Documentation Guidelines for Evaluators

For Pearson VUE Test Accommodations

Introduction

Pearson VUE is committed to ensuring access to the test for all individuals with disabilities. Pearson VUE provides reasonable and appropriate accommodations to individuals with documented disabilities who demonstrate a need for accommodations. For example, applicants may request someone to record answers, a separate testing room, or extra testing time.

Purpose of Accommodations

The following technical information is provided for the evaluators who prepare documentation for candidates as part of their request for test accommodations. Candidates requesting test accommodations are asked to share these guidelines with their evaluator so that appropriate documentation can be assembled to support the request for test accommodations.

Requests for test accommodations are inherently individualized and need to be considered on a case-by-case basis. Consequently, no single type of accommodation (i.e., extra time) would necessarily be appropriate for all individuals with disabilities. Moreover, simply demonstrating that an individual meets diagnostic criteria for a particular disorder does not mean that the person is automatically entitled to accommodations.

The purpose of accommodations is to provide candidates with an opportunity to have full access to the test. However, accommodations are not a guarantee of improved performance or test completion.

Specific accommodations should be related to the identified functional limitations so that the impairment is mitigated by the requested auxiliary aid or adjustment to the testing format. For example, a functional limitation might be mobility, resulting in wheelchair use. An appropriate accommodation might be a height-adjustable computer workstation. It is essential that the documentation provide a clear explanation of the current functional limitation and a rationale for the requested accommodation.

Detailed Documentation Requirements

Candidates who are requesting accommodations based on a diagnosis of a physical disability or chronic health condition are generally expected to provide a report of a current, comprehensive medical evaluation. The diagnosis and recommended accommodations are based on the aggregate of relevant history, levels of current functioning, clinical judgment, and optionally, objective test results.

Note that meeting diagnostic criteria for a particular disorder does not necessarily mean that the individual will be found to be disabled for the purpose of testing accommodations.

The evaluation should:

1. Be performed by a qualified evaluator (see Note #1 below)
2. Be current (< 1 year; see Note #2 below)

The detailed letter or report should:

1. Include identifying information:
 - a. The first page of the detailed letter or report should be printed on the evaluator's letterhead, and should provide relevant identifying information, including the examinee's name, date of birth, the examination dates, age at the time of testing, and grade and school (if applicable).
 - b. The last page of the report should be signed by the evaluator.
2. Include a comprehensive history:
 - a. age that symptoms of the disorder first appeared
 - b. relevant educational history
 - c. relevant psychosocial history
 - d. relevant medical history
 - e. history of the condition
 - f. history of the impact of the condition (not just past use of accommodations)
3. Include a detailed discussion of the current presentation, including current treatments (e.g., medications) and their effectiveness, current test results, and the current impact of the disorder on academic performance, employment (if relevant), and other daily activities
4. Include a discussion of the expected duration and prognosis of the condition
5. Include specific recommendations for accommodations (see Note #3 below)
6. Include a specific rationale for each recommended accommodation

NOTES:

1. A qualified professional should evaluate the person who is requesting accommodations. An individual is deemed to be qualified to assess for a physical or health-related disability if s/he has had extensive graduate-level training in the area of medical assessment of adults. In most cases, the evaluator should be a physician, physician assistant, or nurse-practitioner. The name, title, and professional credentials of the evaluator should be clearly stated in the documentation. Pearson VUE reserves the right to request evidence from an evaluator of their professional qualifications. Assessment by family members, even if otherwise qualified, will not be accepted.
2. Currency: Because the provision of reasonable accommodations is based on assessment of the current impact and current functional limitations caused by the applicant's disability, Pearson VUE requires current documentation. The documentation provided should be no older than one (1) year prior to the anticipated test date.
3. Examples of specific recommendations for accommodations could include "25% extra time," "Testing in a separate room", "breaks," or "use of an adjustable font exam". Non-specific recommendations such as "extra time" or "the maximum allowable time" are not acceptable. Note that the purpose of extra time is not to ensure that the candidate finishes the test (many non-disabled test-takers do not finish the exam).

NOTE: In situations where an individual is thought to have two or more disorders, such as a learning disability and a visual impairment, the diagnostic report should clearly describe the unique impact of each disorder, and Documentation Requirements should be met for each disorder.
